WE referred a few days ago to the policy of the Peking Government advising Corea to enter into the comity of nations by making treaties with Western Powers. Since then the announcement has been made, both from Peking and Yokohama, that the Corean Government are considering the expedience of soliciting the alliance of one or more of the great Powers-England, Germany, and the United States being mentioned. As the report comes, at about the same seems very probable that, at no very distant date, we shall see the peninsular kingdom opened up to foreign trade and intercourse. news was brought up from Singapore by the longs to the same firm (Messrs. Bun Hin Chan) as the Holyrood. While at Singapore, the news the missing vessel, and from thence was forwited even from the calamity. It appears the 22nd February with a cargo of rice for Singapore, and passed Cape St. James at three a.m. She had been proceeding about curred, but how it happened the man assemed upable to say. Whether the vessel struck fell out, or by what means the water got into the vessel, is not stated, but from the man's account, she would seem to have rapidly filled and sunk. The informant says he saw the three sugineers get into one boat, and the master and the two mates into another, that the engineers' beat came to grief alongside the vessel, and that the captain's boat got safely away. As to the bearer of the tidings, he says he got clear of the ship before she sunk, on a spar, to which he held on till daylight the next morning, when he saw a dackhouse from the steamer floating near him with about eight of the Chinese crew upon | prisonment. it. He then left his spar, and got upon this leck house, and there he remained several days he could not say how many. The rest of the men were washed off one by one as their strength failed. and he was left alone, until a junk passed within right of him, and he was picked up; very nearly dead. This junk landed him at a place a little to the North of the Great Redens, from which he made his way by a native boat to Singapore, and there he made a communication to the Harbour Master. His tale is of a hazy character, and the above was about as much as could be made out of him. In Singapore his story is somewhat disprodited on account of its vagueness and the uprobabilities in it. In the first place no mention is made of any Chinese getting into beats, and only two boats are mentioned, whilst there is very little doubt she would carry four bosts, again as to the two boats he speaks of he only alludes to three occupants in each, and the boats ther it is extremely improbable that three engineers would get alone into one boat with no seamen. The supposed second cook says that at fairly only, and the sea was not partioularly rough. Though this tale does not impress one apon, however, there is nevertheless little reason to doubt that the steamer has been lost. Sh left Saigon on the 22nd February, and her passage should have been made in about four days. ome of the survivors from the ill-fated ship may have been picked up by some vessel for the colonies, and have been taken down there. Many boxes of letters are received at the Post Office not sealed, that is to say, the box is fastened with sealing wax, but there is no impression of a real.

The attention of boxholders is called to the necessity of carefully sealing such boxes with some recognisable seal, and of sending a chitbook or receipt with them.
